

Rediscovering the Father Through Jesus With Jake Khym

Reflective Questions

“Without the presence of the merciful Father, we are delivered up to our faults, without any possible remedy. There would be no forgiveness of error or sin. No place for weakness, frailty, or failure, all of which are nonetheless a part of our lives.

We would be, in a way, condemned to succeed at life...putting a terrible weight on our shoulders, an obligation to be superhuman, going from success to success without any possibility of failure. ”

Father Jacques Phillipe

1. How did you learn the concept of ‘Father’? What are the ways in which the Father-figures in your life shaped (for better or worse) your understanding of the Father?
2. What comes into your mind when you think about God the Father? Do you think this image is accurate?
3. How often do you turn back to the Father? Do you approach Him as a slave, orphan, or child?
4. What stands out to you about the behavior of the Father in the Prodigal Son? What is Jesus trying to tell you about His Father?
